

PADI Rebreather Course – welcome to the silent world of diving

Rebreathers used to be only for technical diving, but not anymore.

ABOUT THE REBREATHING COURSE

Through self-study and instructor-guided sessions, you'll learn how rebreathers work and the importance of proper setup and maintenance. Because rebreathers vary significantly, you'll also study the manufacturers' literature for the Hollis PRISM2. During six dives, you'll work on many new skills like for example: Performing pre-dive checks.

PRICE

750 Euro including the use of a PRISM2 rebreather.
650 Euro if you have your own PRISM2 rebreather.

CERTIFICATION

After a completed course and having, successfully completed the course exam, scoring 80 percent or higher, followed by review of any items missed until achieving mastery, you will be certified as a PADI Rebreather Diver on a Hollis PRISM2 rebreather, and you will receive an e-certificate to prove it.

EQUIPMENT AND REBREATHING TO DIVE WITH

We provide a Hollis PRISM2 rebreather with front mount counterlungs for rent unless you already have purchased one of your own. You'll need your own mask, fins and exposure suits. Snorkels are optional, but a collapsible snorkel can be carried in your pocket. You also need a Delayed Surface Marker Buoy (DSMB) and reel/spool

INTRODUCTION

A rebreather recycles the exhaled breath. The exhaled gas is recycled into a closed loop through a chemical absorbent (scrubber) to remove the carbon dioxide. You get longer no-stop limits, and you don't release annoying bubbles. Among others, underwater photographers may prefer to use rebreathers because their quiet operation is less disruptive to marine life. The PADI Rebreather Diver course introduces you to rebreather diving to a maximum depth of 18 metres/60 feet and lets you experience.
